Trump's meeting with Chinese President Xi Jinping will be the most important as the two leaders prepare for a two-day summit between the world's two largest economies on June 1-2. "We are determined to make the implementation of the [US-China] trade deal a major priority for the Trump administration," White House spokesman Sean Spicer told a news briefing. That's why I decided to make some Honey Spiced Pecans for Christmas. You guys, I have just eaten the best chocolate raspberry swirl banana bread in all the land. It is PERFECT. I ate the whole thing before I even finished photographing it. It's from Louise's Kitchen. I highly recommend getting this recipe if you want a fabulous-tasting vegan banana bread. Another thing I got a lot of this month is Stovetop gifts. I've been using this skillet and this griddle ever since I bought them. They are not fancy but the pans are so solid and straight edged. I really appreciate that. Also, I'm a fan of stainless steel appliances, especially when I'm cooking since stainless steel retains heat much better than other materials. I really like that about this stovetop. Now, here is a gift idea for the foodie in your life: a better recipe book. It's meant to be more than just a book of recipes. It's meant to serve as a reference and a resource for good recipes. I've seen similar cookbooks and I really like them. And for a cooking gift, I could really use that right now. A few items for the book shopping gift idea. The gift is basically being a cookbook of your favorite recipes. I like recipes that have photographs. And I like fairly straightforward recipes. I have a decent collection of yummy-looking recipes that I like using. I can also take a look at one of those recipes and see how to modify it, say, by making a variation instead of the original recipe. One thing that I've been thinking about lately is that I don't think my house is a super great place for entertaining. I often host small-scale meals in our house. It's a cozy, homey space. But it's not the best place for others to visit. I'm thinking about ideas to make our home be a fun place for entertaining. That's why I'm currently checking out Christmas dinner entree ideas for our house. I think I'm going to make
